Lead-Coal-ART matter: More Carnage in Front of Living Room Windows

(The following is adapted from an October 28 letter to Secretary Pete Buttigieg and Acting General Counsel John Putnam, US Department of Transportation, from the Lead Coal Safety Brigade, an ad hoc group of residents along with Lead and Coal between Washington and Yale. The views expressed are of the Brigade, not UHA).

The basic facts of the Lead-Coal-ART matter are simple. For decades the City of Albuquerque (CABQ) has been operating an expressway on two narrow residential side streets. All the while telling everyone, including the USDOT in two major projects (Lead and Coal Improvements Project, FHWA and Albuquerque Rapid Transit, FTA) that there is nothing to see here.

What are the consequences of building and operating a principal arterial road with only sixty feet of right of way, fifteen feet away from homes? Thousands of crashes just outside of the living room and bedroom windows. Hundreds of crashes into front yards, side yards, and back yards. Cars drive alongside homes, commonly, at 70-100 mph.* Constant danger.

*Crash and speed data from the CABQ Rest in Red Feasibility Report- <https://www.cabq.gov/council/documents/lead-coal-rest-in-red-7-28-2021-final-1.pdf>

Early on October 16 (Lead and Columbia) we experienced the second ejection fatality crash on Lead Avenue between Washington and Yale in less than four years. The first (Lead and Solano, December 2017) was in front of homes. This second crash was into a home. What does "ejection fatality" mean here exactly? It means blood and human remain on the street. In front of the living room and kitchen windows.

Our families are in danger every day. I urge the USDOT to explain how this dangerous, federally funded roadway has been allowed and to put an end to this assault on our neighborhoods.

Concerned? Here's what you can do

Ask the Mayor for a serious (public, written, binding, comprehensive, multijurisdictional and neighborhood endorsed) plan for Lead-Coal. And ask him to kill the reckless Rest in Red signalization experiment.

Let State Senator Sedillo Lopez and State Representative Gail Chasey know you want a state investigation of the Lead-Coal-ART matter. And ask them to fund evaluation and mitigation of the unaddressed environmental impacts (noise and diesel exhaust exposure) of Lead-Coal traffic on our families.

Let Congresswoman Stansbury and Senator Heinrich know you want a federal investigation of the Lead-Coal-ART matter. And ask them to meet with us and know this problem from the lens of community, not of bureaucracy.

Let Secretary Buttigieg know you want a serious and comprehensive USDOT response to the Lead-Coal-ART matter. Email % Chief of Staff Laura.Schiller@dot.gov and secretary-scheduler@dot.gov

Addendum: This article was submitted for publication the day before the December 18 fatal pedestrian-auto crash at Coal Avenue and Tulane Drive.
